SHAWS™ KITCHEN SERIES

Authentically Crafted in Great Britain

Shown with:
Perrin & Rowe® Edwardian™ Kitchen Faucet

In 1897, the apron front sink was introduced by Shaws™ of Lancashire, England. Today, every Shaws™ Original Fireclay Sink is still hand poured, shaped and stamped with the name of the very artisan who crafted it. Taking over three weeks to create, more clay, more glaze, more heat and more care breathe character into products made by real people. Every Shaws™ sink is unique and designed to last a lifetime.

The Edwardian Era of the early 20th century was characterized by a return to classic, simpler lines after the ostentatious Victorian period. Elegance was the order of the day. The Perrin & Rowe® Edwardian™ Series perfectly exemplifies the classic movement with its timeless details and unmatched craftsmanship. Each faucet conveys a sense of refined taste and sophistication that complements any traditional setting.

The Perrin & Rowe® Georgian Era™ Series draws its inspiration from the period between the early 1700's and mid-1800's when four successive King Georges ruled England. Collectively they had a profound influence on architecture, art, fashion and the decorative arts. The hallmarks of the era are exquisite proportion and balance, formal detail and a bow to classic ancient Greek architecture. Authentically crafted in Great Britain, the faucets and accessories are made of solid brass by craftsmen who lay their hands on every steps of the process from casting through plating and finishing.

Considered by many to be the center of London, Holborn is the inspiration for the Perrin & Rowe® Holborn™ Series. Once home to London's artistic and literary influences, today the area is an assemblage of architectural styles from Baroque and Tudor to modern hotels and office buildings. The Holborn™ Series is contemporary yet timeless, complementing traditional and modern décor, and every style in between.

Made in Great Britain by craftsmen using time honored hand casting and polishing techniques.

The hot springs of Acqui in Northern Italy are the inspiration for this classically styled Series. Acqui Terme, one of the oldest spa villages in Italy, was the revered destination of ancient Greeks and Romans alike where "taking the waters" was a favorite pastime. These thermal spas were the muse for the design of our Acqui® Series. It takes its form from the ornate, highly decorated architectural and design influences of the region's history. The Acqui series is proudly made in the Italian Piemonte region by artisans using authentic materials, time-honored traditions and hand techniques passed down from generation to generation.

Named for Piazza del Campo in Sienna, Italy, the ROHL® Campo™ Series celebrates the famous systems of conduits that brings water to the area. In the 14th century, miles of tunnels and aqueducts were built to deliver water to the famous Font Gaia – or Fountain of the World. The Campo™ handle and escutcheon design emulates the valve/ stem combination used in the building of industrial conduit systems. Made by northern Italian craftsmen, using know-how passed down through generations.

In an exciting contrast to other ROHL® collections emphasizing European style, this collection celebrates a glamorous age in American culture. The Michael Berman Gotham™ Series pays homage to American metropolises like New York City and their role in setting the pace for "sky-reaching" architecture in the early 19th century. The Series mixes a blend of Art Deco and "Streamline Moderne" influences, evoking the style of structures like the Chrysler Building, Empire State Building and RCA Building at Rockefeller Center. The skyscrapers of Manhattan marked the summit of the Art Deco style; they became the tallest and most recognizable modern buildings in the world - and were a key influence of the Michael Berman Gotham™ Series.

MICHAEL BERMAN GRACELINE® KITCHEN SERIES

Authentically crafted in U.S.A.

Shown with:
Shaws™ Lancaster Sink

Renowned designer Michael Berman created his American Moderne collection exclusively for ROHL®. In an exciting contrast to other ROHL® collections emphasizing European style, this collection celebrates a glamorous age in American culture. American Moderne is a transitional style combining modern elements with those from the era when transatlantic ocean liners and transcontinental train travel were in their heyday, and Hollywood was in its prime. The Graceline® Series, reflects Berman's appreciation for streamlined design, featuring sleek lines and industrial details. Its name is inspired by the luxury ocean liners of the 20's and 30's, once considered the epitome of transatlantic travel. Graceline® – the perfect blend of glam with industrial marvel!

A modern and artistic interpretation of the Northern Italian Alps, the ROHL® Lombardia® Series is named for Italy's Lombardy region whose cities have been style centers since the Renaissance. The region's culture, with artists or influencers like Leonardo da Vinci and Mantegna, and works of art were highly regarded. The look is contemporary yet warm. The Italian-made Series features rounded, simple shapes with no extraneous ornamentation for a softer take on contemporary.

The Arcana name reflects its meaning – looking both into the past and forward to the future. It is a blend of traditional and current trends – linked together in a unique form. The ROHL® Arcana™ Series features faucet and accessory designs for the lavatory, bath and shower. The tradition of Arcana pays homage to the town of Alzo, above Lago d'Orta, and its heritage of church bells used in the design of the handle base. Today the town produces some of the finest fittings in the world.

Literally meaning to "travel" or "embark upon a journey" in Italian, Viaggio conjures images of walkabouts in the foothills of the Dolomites, day sails on Lake Como and treks in the hills of Tuscany. ROHL® faucets of the same name were inspired by these very places. Crafted by Italian artisans, the ROHL® Viaggio® Series embodies the traditions of the region where generations of families have set their hands at creating pieces inspired by their Northern Italian heritage. Its graceful styling is reminiscent of faucets and fixtures found in country villas that dot the landscape.

Turin, the capital of the Piemonte region of Northern Italy and the inspiration for the ROHL® Bellia™ Series, is Italy's most important center for the Art Nouveau style. Influenced by the major 1902 exhibition of decorative arts, the city was chosen to host the event because it was modern and industrial in nature and long connected to prestigious automobile manufacturing. It's here that the Palazzo Bellia is located – one of the area's most beautiful buildings. Its shapely balconies, arched windows and slender turrets are the inspiration for the ROHL® Bellia™ Series. These elegant faucets, tub fillers, showers and accessories combine sensual lines with a contemporary flair.

Named for Piazza del Campo in Sienna, Italy, the ROHL® Campo™ Series celebrates the famous systems of conduits that brings water to the area. In the 14th century, miles of tunnels and aqueducts were built to deliver water to the famous Font Gaia – or Fountain of the World. The Campo™ handle and escutcheon design emulates the valve/ stem combination used in the building of industrial conduit systems. Made by northern Italian craftsmen, using know-how passed down through generations.

Andrea Palladio, a 16th century Italian architect, creator of the Palladian window, and a proponent of honest classical architecture, was the inspiration behind the ROHL® Palladian® Series. Blending the best of classic proportion with the flourish of great Italian fashion, this look is the answer to the renewed love of European colonial and Old World design updated with a transitional look.

Renowned designer Michael Berman created his American Moderne collection exclusively for ROHL®. In an exciting contrast to other ROHL® collections emphasizing European style, this collection celebrates a glamorous age in American culture. American Moderne is a transitional style combining modern elements with those from the era when transatlantic ocean liners and transcontinental train travel were in their heyday, and Hollywood was in its prime. The Graceline® Series, reflects Berman's appreciation for streamlined design, featuring sleek lines and industrial details. Its name is inspired by the luxury ocean liners of the 20's and 30's, once considered the epitome of transatlantic travel. Graceline® – the perfect blend of glam with industrial marvel!

Reminiscent of the main access to Southern Italy, the ROHL® San Giovanni™ Series epitomizes the industriousness of this region. In the mid-nineteenth century the area, nicknamed "little Manchester", housed a large number of fabric spinning mills and industrial pipe factories. The details of this Series are derived from the industrial components of the manufacturing mills. Escutcheons resemble the "nuts and bolts" reflective of mechanical fittings from the late 1800s.

A modern and artistic interpretation of the Northern Italian Alps, the ROHL® Lombardia® Series is named for Italy's Lombardy region whose cities have been style centers since the Renaissance. The region's culture, with artists or influencers like Leonardo da Vinci and Mantegna, and works of art were highly regarded. The look is contemporary yet warm. The Italian-made Series features rounded, simple shapes with no extraneous ornamentation for a softer take on contemporary.

The ROHL® Soriano™ Series is a range of brushed Stainless Steel bath faucets designed by the Italian design firm Meneghello Paoletti Associati. The design is inspired by the Boolean data type – the coding logic defined by “1s” and “0s” and representing the two truth values of logic. The brilliance of the Soriano™ Series is its simplicity; the spout, lever and base of each piece is defined by one shape. The clean, sharp elegance of the Series makes it a perfect choice for contemporary bathroom design.

The Edwardian Era of the early 20th century was characterized by a return to classic, simpler lines after the ostentatious Victorian period. Elegance was the order of the day. The Perrin & Rowe® Edwardian™ Series perfectly exemplifies the classic movement with its timeless details and unmatched craftsmanship. Each faucet conveys a sense of refined taste and sophistication that complements any traditional setting.

The Perrin & Rowe® Georgian Era™ Series draws its inspiration from the period between the early 1700's and mid-1800's when four successive King Georges ruled England. Collectively they had a profound influence on architecture, art, fashion and the decorative arts. The hallmarks of the era are exquisite proportion and balance, formal detail and a bow to classic ancient Greek architecture. Authentically crafted in Great Britain, the faucets and accessories are made of solid brass by craftsmen who lay their hands on every steps of the process from casting through plating and finishing.
